of Agriculture have put in circulation a large quantity of pamphlets concerning the Northwest as a field for immigration. Many of those to arrive are possessed of means and will doubtless locate in the more settled districts, where the hand of industry has already developed the possibilities of the soil. The superior value of this portion of the country is known to a large extent by a very desirable class of settlers, and there is reason to believe much wealth will be added to the country during the coming summer. Several large parties have been organized in Yorkshire, with the intention of sailing early in the spring, and many nearer at hand are already moving in this direction. Nearly all nationalities will be represented, including French, German, Swede, Scandinavian, Norwegian, etc.

The advocacy of temperance does not, by any means involve a belief in Total Abstinence. Many people seem to think it does. The true philosophy taught by science, inculcated by religion, and endorsed by common sense is to enjoy all nature's gifts with temperate moderation. There is intemperance, exhibited in eating as well as in drinking, and quite a large proportion of deaths in each mortality list is composed of the victims of dietary indiscretion. Now, if this is true, (and we appeal to medical men to say if it is otherwise) our Total Abstinence friends, to be consistent, should pledge themselves to abstain from food, because thousands die annually of over-eating. The only people who should totally abstain from the use of malt and spirituous liquors are those who are habitual drunkards. And, likewise the men who have suicidal tendencies should abstain from the use of bowie-knives, revolvers, and other deadly weapons.

The best way to hold drunkenness in check is to enact such license laws as will place the retailing of liquors in the hands of respectable dealers. When a person purchases a deadly drug for the purpose of committing suicide the drug-giver is considered "the drops criminal" and is held to answer on the charge of manslaughter. Let this rule hold good in the case of the dealer and in self-defence he will sell liquor to temperate drinkers only.

Letters patent have been granted for the incorporation of Morris as a Town, with all the powers appertaining thereto. The Manitoba Central Railway directors are making preparation for work by application to the Dominion House for charter, as seen by advertisement. Altogether with these and many other important projects on foot the future of Morris looks up brighter than that of any surrounding place.

The idea of teaching every girl to thump a piano and every boy to be a book-keeper will make potatoes $5 a bushel in twenty years.—Cape Ann Advertiser.

There are 12,000 head of Jersey cattle on the Jersey Isle, and 6,000 on the Isle of Guernsey. The exportation from both are nearly 3,000 head per year; the bulk going to England, and several hundred to the United States.

A NEW HONEY STUFFED AN AVIATION ON WHEELS.

Col. Fizzlepop took his wife out for a drive. He was driving a very high spirited horse, when it occurred to Mrs. Fizzlepop that she would like to drive that kind of an animal. She remarked: "I have often heard you say, Colonel, that a woman did not know how to drive. Now I want to show you how badly mistaken you are. Give me the reins."

"Not with this buggy," replied Fizzlepop, trembling all over. "I know you can drive splendidly, but wait until tomorrow, and I'll borrow an old second-hand buggy from a friend for you to practice with. I saw where a woman in Galveston smashed up a new buggy, so that it cost $40 to repair it; and that it could be used for kindling wood. Let us keep this buggy to go to our funeral in."

"So you think I can't drive this horse?"

"I know you can drive well enough, but before going down the avenue let's drive back and kiss the children and your mother good-by, and then go over to the marble yard and pick out a tombstone, and then down to the undertaker and get measured, and then—"

"Out to the public asylum and leave you there for awhile. You are talking like you didn't have good sense."

"All right. Just take the reins and give the people a chance to fresco the wheels with their brains."

"You are in no danger of losing any brains. Get up!" said Mrs. Fizzlepop, as she took the reins.

"How polite the people are to get out of the way," she remarked, as the rear wheels scraped the bottom of a fly ing drummer's pants, the end of one of the shafts knocked the hat off the head of a prominent banker, while a life insurance agent was acting as a brakeman on the off wheel, without his intending it at all.

Just at this moment, when Fizzlepop had given up all hopes, just as the buggy was about to telescope a street car full of passengers, just as the drivers of other teams were whipping up their teams to escape from the Fizzlepop machine on wheels, Mrs. Fizzlepop saw a new hat in a store window, and, in spite of the frantic efforts of the frenzied animal, held him as in a vice until Fizzlepop had purchased the hat, and thus the danger was averted. When a lady has made up her mind to have a new bonnet, two locomotives cannot pull her past the store window.

THE SMALLEST WATER GOAT.

An English paper tells this good story: "By virtue of certain capitulations with the Sultanate Porte, the United States, in common with other Governments, are entitled to keep a gunboat in the Sea of Marmora for the carrying of dispatches, the protection of their citizens domiciled at Pera and Galata, and so forth. In the winter of the conference year, 1876, there arrived in the Dardanelles a magnificent American corvette—English sailors would call her a frigate—called the Vandalia. The Pacific of the coast of Europe was terribly disrupted. He went on board the corvette and pointed out that under the capitulations the gunboats only of foreign powers were permitted to pass through the straits. 'It's the smallest we've got,' calmly replied the gallant commander of the Vandalia, and away steamed the big ship for Constantinople."

Fun in Camp.

The early settlers of Kentucky had to work hard and fight often with the Indians. Their holidays were few, but whenever men met some sort of a physical contest was the amusement of the occasion. A Methodist minister, who lived in Kentucky at the beginning of this century, tells of a curious sport he once witnessed—a battle with fire-brands for weapons.

He and a hundred other stalwart settlers were engaged in opening a road through the forest. It was a good-natured, jolly company. The men worked hard all day. At night they sat round blazing fires of huge hickory logs and told stories of hunting bear and deer and fighting Indians.

One night the story-tellers seemed to have exhausted their yarns. The men seemed nervous for some new amusement. Suddenly one gave a warwhoop. A score of yells answered. Every one sprang to his feet.

Two Captains were chosen, and the men told off in two companies. Each man seized a burning brand and the battle began. There was but one rule of war—no brand should be thrown without first upon it, so that it might be seen and dodged.

For two hours the battle continued in perfect good nature. But, as the fire became low, burning brands grew scarce. The rule was broken and some were severely wounded. The battle in play was beginning to be a fight in earnest.

Then came out the perfection of the discipline they had acquired in Indian wars. The loud voices of the Captains cried "Halt!" Each man dropped his brand. "To camp!" and in a few minutes the whole company, save the sentinels, were "between their blankets."

The average life of a locomotive is only 20 years, but the average life of a locomotive engineer is 20. The engine can run 2000.

GRIT.

The force of will is a potent element in determining longevity. This single point must be granted without argument, that of two men, every way alike and similarly circumstanced, the one who has the greater courage and grit will be the longer lived. One does not need to practice medicine to learn that men die that might just as well live if they resolved to live, and that myriads who are in the midst of becoming strong if they had the nerve or acquired will to do what they would do. Those who have no other quality favorable to life, whose bodily organs are nearly all diseased, to whom each day is a day of pain, who are haunted by life-shortening influences, yet do live by will alone.

SAURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1912.

BRANDON BUDGET.

Mr. Crawford, engineer of the fire-engine has returned from Broadview, and is now ready to take care of his charge.

Mr. Kenney, of the West End Meat Market, has a card in this issue which it would be well for our readers to peruse. He has everything in the meat line that can be desired, and is bound to sell cheap.

Messrs. Bower, Blackburn, Mundie & Porter have received a consignment of stove, which is perhaps the largest that has ever been brought into the city at one time. They are of all styles, shapes, make and price.

Mr. C. Shields, chief train despatcher of the C. P. R. was yesterday over line as far as Seawell, on an inspection trip. Mr. S. is well liked by the employees, and many of them look for his being advanced to a higher position before long.

Thursday night a man named John Young enjoyed the hospitality of the Chief of Police, for being drunk and incapable on the street. He and the man Smith spoken of in a former issue will be up on Monday to answer for their too frequent indulgences.

Messrs. Chas. Marshall & Co. are arranging to publish a directory of the city, which will contain a short sketch of the business men and business places of the city, as well as a correct and carefully compiled list of the names of the resident citizens. The work will be a first-class one of the kind, and will no doubt have an extensive circulation.

Last night the rink was in total darkness. The cause of the eclipse was a landlord's warrants. It appears that some days ago a contractor named Noble seized the effects and had them advertised. The sale was fixed for yesterday, but the proprietors stepped in with a warrant for rent, and spoiled the first one, and now there will be no sale until next Wednesday, and in the meantime there will be skating until that date. Those who are holders of season tickets will of course feel that they are being slighted, but the law must take its course.

Last evening a man fell against the window of a small store kept by Mr. Spencer. After he extricated himself from the rain he made off, but was followed by the owner of the window, who found the offender, but could not get any satisfaction out of him. Mr. S. then made for the police station, and in a few minutes returned accompanied by Chief McMillan, but the party had left. The chief, however, in a few minutes succeeded in learning the name of the wrong doer, and his best plan will be to pay for the damages done without any unnecessary loss of time.

The Presbyterian Literary Society which meets every two weeks met last night. There were quite a number in attendance, and as those who took part in the programme acquitted themselves creditably, the only disappointed persons are those who were not present. The following are the names of those who contributed to the evening's entertainment: Quartette, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Miss and Mr. Lockhart; reading, G. V. Fraser; duet, Mrs. Buxton and Miss Harrison; instrumental music, Messrs. Kinnison Smith and McLaughlin; reading, D. M. McMillan; solo, Miss K. Campbell; reading, Mr. W. Barr.

The Literary entertainment in the Methodist church last night was fairly attended, and the proceedings interesting. Those present enjoyed the following programme heartily. Instrumental music, Mr. Brier; recitation, Rev. Mr. Bridgman; duet by Mrs. Robinson and Miss Hilliard; recitation, Miss Elliott; song, Mr. Cooper; reading, Mr. Chas. Young; song, Mr. Swan; reading, Mr. Chas. Young; after the above the debate was gone on with. Subject, "Britain must fall," in absence of Mr. Newman, Mr. Cooper assisted Mr. Salisbury conducted affirmative. Messrs. J. M. and Williams took the negative and after a vote of the audience was taken which decided that those supporting the negative had won the victory.

The funeral of Capt. Frederick Granville took place this afternoon and was very highly attended by all the people of this city. At 2 o'clock p.m. the casket bearing all that was mortal of one who although only a citizen of a few years, was a truly brave and patriotic man, and one of the best known and influential men of this city. The long alleys and friends on foot moved slowly from the hotel along Main street to the English Church which was filled with a large crowd of sympathizing friends who were visibly moved throughout the service, not one of the large congregation which filled the sacred edifice could gaze upon the beautiful east window without thinking with a full heart of the generous donor who now lies in a cold lone grave on the bleak prairie. As the corpse entered the solemn strains of the organ played the "Dead March from Saul." The service was most impressively conducted by Mr. Hopedale and many an eye was damp as the beautiful hymn "What Life is here our portion," was sung by both choir and congregation after which the body was taken from the church to the burial ground followed by a large cortege of sleighs containing all the deceased warmest and best friends who after they had seen all that was mortal of him laid in the cold snow clad earth returned home to mourn his loss.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

If you want very choice fur cap muffs and gloves for the street and church, Scott & Fairley have them.
